Overview. OpenForecast is a package of general purpose, forecasting models written in Java that can be applied to any data series. One of the design goals was/is to make it easy for a developer to use in an application even if they do not understand, or care to understand, the differences between the different forecasting models available.

This exception is coming in very strange way. I am reading a variable's value from a stored procedure whose type is DECIMAL(15,4). And at java end I was type casting this value to BigDecimal, and it was working perfectly fine. Now I started getting this exception :java.lang.ClassCastException: java.lang.Double incompatible with java.math.BigDecimal and to resolve this I am casting this variable ...
