A locale is a linguistic and cultural environment in which a system or program is running. Setting the NLS_LANG environment parameter is the simplest way to specify locale behavior for Oracle Database software. It sets the language and territory used by the client application and the database server. It also sets the client's character set, which is the character set for data entered or ...

The nls_lang parameter is an important component for any Oracle database that displays non-English characters. You can set nls_lang in your initialization parameter file (init.ora) and you can also set it at the session level and within shell scripts: NLS_LANG='english_united kingdom.we8iso8859p1'; export NLS_LANG . The best place to look for nls_lang parameter information is the Oracle ...
